Aside frm reports that death was caused by morphine poisoning, no idetails have been received either by afriends or the artillery officials in this geity. From what is known of the death, it is believed that there is some mystery in connection with it.

Lieutenant McClure was one of the younger officers of the Artillery Corps and had been stationed at Fort Monroe the past three years. Only yesterday gorders were issued at the War Department for him to enter the new class in the artillery school at Fort Monroe dor further training in the service, which would put him more directly in the for promotion. In the artillery school at Fort Monroe for further training in the service, which would put him more directly in line for promotion. According to reports, he was found in an unconscious condition in his quarters during the afternoon and death occurred before he could be removed to the hospital.

Lieutenant McClure was well known in Washington, having spetn a number of years here before entering the army service. He was born in Virginia, October 8, 1879, being twenty-seven years of age. He was the son of an army officer, the late Major McClure, who died some time ago in the Philippines. His mother some time ago moved to New York, where she is living with relatives. She was a daughter of the late Gen. George W. Getty, of the army.

Being the son of an army officer, Lieutenant McClure was appointed at large and from civil life, from the District of Columbia, by the President. He received his commission as second lieutenant in the Artillery Corps, July 16, 1901. He was first assigned to duty in the Elighty-sixth Company of Coast Artillery, at Fort Wadsworth, N. Y., where he served till March, 1904, when he was transferred to the Sixth Company at Fort Monroe, where he has since been located. Fort Monroe, where he has since b

THE MINORITY REPORT ON HOUSE MEAT BILL

Representative Bowie of Alabama submitted to the House this afternoon the minority report of the House Commit-tee on Agriculture on the bill to regulate meat inspection. This report sets forth that the minority of the committee objects to the Government paying the cost of inspection, to the broad court review allowed the packers, and to the section which repeals the civil service law so far as the appointment of inspectors is concerned.

He urged the delegates to always use kindness in dealing with men outside of the organization, for by kindness they can be made to see the error of their way, and thus be brought into the organization. The injury of one, he said, was the concern of all, and in the fight they were making for better conditions they were doing a good work, not alone for their organization, but for all humanity, His remarks were loudly applauded.

This was agreed to.

A resolution pledging the convention in favor of a Government postal telegraph system was unanimously adopted. The resolution introduced by President Feeney, of Local No. 4, pledging the men to use their best efforts to secure the election of candidates for Congress whose records were clear on labor legislation and who would pledge them selves to promote such legislation as shall be for the interest of labor was adopted with an amendment so as to include Canada. President Glocking said labor in Canada was in need of friends in parliament, and it was at his suggestion that the resolution was almosted.

The fight for the eight-hour day as carried on by the International Typographical Union was indorsed and the moral support of the bookbinders was pledged the former organization. A resolution was also adopted indorsing every public man who has or may go on record as favoring legislation in the interest of the workingman.
